In England, it all started when the company sales manager, Cecil Kimber, produced some specially tuned Morris 'Bullnoses' which were then sold as MGs.

This DVD tells the story of how MG came about and features the people and the cars who have helped keep the legend alive for so long. We feature MG owners from as far afield as Florida where the warm

Florida Sunshine means these enthusiasts get to enjoy their MGs all year round. Then there's the German who bought an MG RV8 to improve his street cred and the man who keeps his brand new un-registered 1980 MGB GT with just 58 miles on the clock, tucked up in the garage. Exclusive interviews include Don Hayter, chief body draughtsman for the MGB and David Bishop (Managing Director, British Motor Heritage Ltd), the man behind the re-birth of the MGB for the 90s, the MG RV8. It was down to his painstaking search for the original tooling of the MGB that not only meant the birth of this modern classic but meant that old MGs destined for the scrap heap had a new lease of life. MGs were small, fun and above all affordable which meant that people from all backgrounds could now afford to own a sports car. This fact remains with the current range of MG's being built today.

MG owners from all walks of life tell us why they love owning their classics. But this DVD doesn't just rely on them, we also get to see exclusive rare footage of modern MGs being built tempting a new generation of MG enthusiasts, from the early nineties MG RV8 to the latest stunning MG Z Saloons and TF Roadsters, all fresh off the production line.
